Strongty Contrasted Fun at Palmer's and Rorrigan's-This the Last Week for Two Roof Gardens-Lottle Collins Dominates at the Star-The Season in Brooklyn. The chief charm of "1402" lies in its freshness and up-to-date snap. It is a play of to-day, not one of day before yesterday, and it contains a great many things worthy of careful study. When we hear Theresa Vaughn bring down the house by singing a weather-beaten song from which the hand organs have long since. as we supposed, wrung out the last breath of life, we wonder why it is that "Annie Rooney" is not more popular than it is. But it's Miss Vaughn who pleases us, and we would be just as content with almost any other song. Then there is the burlesque on "After the Ball," than which nothing could be more completely and distinctly of to-day. The verse about Chicago is a tremendous hit, because it contains, as every topical verse should, a great, big kernel of solid truth, and it was this truth which the audience grasped in a second on Saturday night. Some of the jokes, too, are excellent specimens of latter-day humor, and it is no easy matter nowadays to create original jokes for the stage, especially on such a trite subject as poker. It is a pity that Mr. Harrigan cannot infuse the same up-to-date spirit into his productions, but the truth is that of recent years he has raked over his old material too thoroughly, and, besides, dozens of imitators have arisen with plays modelled on the ones that made him famous long ago, and now the public has grown a little tired of those phases of negro, Irish, and Italian characters which constitute Mr. Harrigan's chief stock in trade. "Dan's Tribulations." however, contains a great deal of really funny material, and is likely to prove more successful than any of the pieces that were given on the same stage last season. It contains the incident of the negro burial, which was originally designed for the "Mulligan Guard Chowder about fifteen years ago, and was regarded then one of the funnlest bits of absurdity ever offered on the New York stage. In its original form Billy Gray, as Pulestine Puter, was the occupant of the coffin, and the place is now filled by his old-time partner, Johnny Wild, who is probably the best impersonator of the New York darky on the stage. In the days when Harrigan and Hart played in the little Theatre Comique on lower Broadway Annie Mack was the leading lady of the company and played the rôle of Bridget Lochmuller, the Irish wife of the German butcher. The part is now filled by Hattie Moore, who, in voice, form, and feature is a striking reminder of her predeces-

Next week there will be but one roof garden

The up-town move of Koster & Bial and their chances of success or failure have proved a fruitful topic for conversation among amuse ment seekers this week. The fact that their house is well ventilated and provided with seats ample enough to accommodate Daniel Lambert are two very strong points in its favor, but the charge of 75 cents for admission and a dollar and a half for orchestra seats is regarded by many experts as a serious blunder. Music hall entertainments are frequently far more costly than those given in regular theatres, but that is a matter which does not enter into the calculations of the average playgoer. He pays his dollar and a half for an orchestra chair at Palmer's Theatre or the Lyceum without a murmur, but he does not expect to pay as much as that when he goes to a music hall, where he can smoke and drink beer, and it is not at all unlikely that Messrs. Koster & Bial will find this deeprooted antipathy to regular theatre prices a difficult prejudice to combat. Another much discussed entertainment is the one given at Daiy's Theatre by the half dozon French pantomimists, concerning whose talent there is but one opinion. A large number of men and women are in the habit of bewalling the deterioration of the drama, and have been known to declare that theatrical managers are blameworthy because they do not offer the public entertainments of a higher artistic order than those usually seen at our theatres. The representations of "L'Enfant Prodigue" are artistic in the real sense of the word, and should be seen by those who are forever ismenting the decadence of dramatic art. Mile, Bertholdi, a pretty and shapely young French woman, is the star of the week at Tony Pastor's. This accomplished and vivacious lady strolls about the stage on her hands, dislocates her joints, and does wonderful things with her teeth. "Glenda-Lough" at the Fourteenth Street Theatre is an Irish drama of the well known conventional type interpreted by a company which is chiefly notable because it has as its leader of orchestra Prof. F. Nicholas Crouch, the author of the bull the seater of the seaters. house is well ventilated and provided with seats ample enough to accommodate Daniel

It is not so very long ago that Brooklyn's inment was admitted and deplored by its inhabitants. The Park Theatre succeeded in taking root in the soil, but it was only after a long strungle, and now the City of Churches has several places of amusement which are supported by those who do not like to travel over the ferries or the bridge after nightfall. There was a good reason for the failure of the Vandeville Club, just as there is for the failure of every scheme for the amelioration of the condition of society people, and that is that "world's people," are as nebulous a class as the "clumen" and "belles of Murray Hill," whose doings are recorded by the out-of-town correspondents. A great many of these "society people," who are supposed by the projectors of the Naudeville and the conductors of Hurper's Weskip to dwell apart from the rest of humanity, had been for years regular various of Tony Pastor's democratic place of smusenment, and some of them had even ventured as far down town as Harry Miner's, on the Bowery. Like the rest of us, they seek the best entertainment they can find, and are apt to resent any attempt to improve their condition, even when it comes from such high born and high bred gentlemen as those who started the Vaudeville last season.

Sousa's testimonial to the late P. S. Gilmore was given yesterday at Manhattan Beach to large and appreciative audiences of the dead leader's friends. The programmes were made up of the oft-played favorites of the great leader, and Mr. Sousa was assisted by two of Gilmore's best artists and friends, Miss Emilie Schneeloch and Mms Luckstan-Meyers. To-day Sousa's farewell festival will begin. One of the features will be an act of opera in each programme, besides the band numbers, and Mme. Marie Tavary. Rosa Linde, Signori Michelena and Mareschalchi will appear in the cast.

INCIDENTS OF A LITTLE FIRE.

Two Arrests for Incendiarism and a Some what Lively Fight.

Two arrests for suspected incendiarism and a lively fight between a policeman and a fire-man were incidents of a $1,500 fire at 600 Second avenue early yesterday morning. The building is four stories high. Flames were discovered in a rubbish heap in the rear of the first floor, which is occupied by Andrew and Abraham Smith as a restaurant and saloon, The smoke soon aroused the inmates of the upper floors, and they got out in safety. Thireen-year-old Conrad Larsen was burned about the hands and face.

The Smith brothers came from Boston and opened the saloon on June 1. Their stock and store fixtures were well insured. Neighbors store fixtures were well insured. Neighbors told Detective Donohue of the East Thirtyfifth street station that a short time before the fire some trunks belonging to the Smiths had been moved by them to the house across the street. Capt. Martens decided to arrest them, and they were taken to the station house.

While the fire was in progress Mrs. John Brennan, who occupied the second floor of 697 missed a pocketbook containing $10. Policeman John J. Conley of the East Thirty-fifth street station and Fireman Goss of 21 Engine had been in that house to warn the inmates. Each accused the other of having stalen the pocketbook, and becams engaged in an encounter. They pounded and pummelled with all their

They pounded and pummelled with all their strength, and in the trail of the fight they left broken chairs, windows, and lamps. During the row Mrs. Brennan found the missing walter where she had placed it for safe keeping, and the policeman and fireman went back to their work about the building.

It was said at the East Thirty-fifth street station yesterday that the fight was the outcome of an eld grudge.

At the engine house the fight was emphatically denied.

THE ALDERMAN FLED,

But His Wife and Her Aunt Made it Lively for His Woman Companion.

A lively incident, which took place early on Sunday morning in Ralph avenue, near St. Mark's avenue, Brooklyn, and in which Dis-trict Alderman Charles Volckenning and a gaudily dressed woman figured on one side and the Alderman's wife and her aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Tighe, on the other, was disclosed in the Gates Avenue Potice Court yesclosed in the Gates Avenue Police Court yesterday, where Mrs. Tighe was charged with intoxication. Alderman Volckenning owns Atlantic Park, a plenic resort near the Eastern Park way in the upper section of Brooklyn, and lives with his wife and three children at it kane place. Something induced Mrs. Volckenning to spend last Saturday night at the house of Mrs. Tighe, at Halph and St. Mark's avenues. She did not go to teel, but sat at a front window watching.

About 2 in the merning, it is alleged, Mrs. Volckenning saw her husband passing the house, his left arm linked to the right arm of a young and good-looking woman. Mrs. Volckenning was out in the street in a twinking, and attacked her husband's commanion. It is alleged that the Alderman leat a releast when host-littes commenced. Mrs. Tighe went to Mrs. Volckenning's assistance. Policeman McCabill came along at this stage of the affair and ordered the women to stop lighting. Mrs. Tighe went to Mrs. Volckenning assistance, and McCabill arrested her for intoxication.

She was arraigned in the Gates Avenue Police Court later in the morning, and the case was adjourned until yesterday, when, after a lengthy hearing, Mrs. Tighe was fined $3. When the case was disposed of Mrs. Tighe obtained a warrant against the policeman who arrested her for assault. He pleaded not guilty, and his examination was adjourned to Sept. 15. terday, where Mrs. Tighe was charged with

A COOL DAY AT THE BIG FAIR.

'AS YOU LIKE IT" PLAYED IN SYL-VAN DELL WITH GREAT SUCCESS.

The Trouble with the Java Village Settled -- Manager Pangelo Shot at in the Sireet of Calro-Commissioner Beeson Gullty, CHICAGO, Aug. 30.-Visitors at the Exposition to-day brought overcoats and wraps, and found that they needed them. It was a clear day in the park and the crisp air made sight-seeing far less tiresome than usual. The attendance was up to the average. The fireworks show for this evening attracted a great crowd, and the grocers and butchers, who had their day at the Fair, came in good numbers.

Missouri filled the north end of the grounds with their exercises at the State Building, and the drill of the troops in front of the Terminal station was another feature.

'As You Like It' was presented to-night in the Sylvan Dell before a big crowd of society notables at $5 per head. The grove is a natural theatre, and the Dell itself is so interwoven with trees as to form a natural sounding board. A chorus of fifty voices, under the direction of Mr. Tomlins, sang the Shakespearean songs.

Hundreds of electric lights and thousands of fairy lamps lent beauty to the grove. The huge stage, on the lake side of the Dell, was a triumph of scenic art. The illusion of the forest was complete, even to the rockwork of the fountain. In decoration and illumination the production lacked nothing necessary to make it memorable, and the performance was an artistic one, with this cast:

HEBER R. ROBERTSON AND HIS SONS. One of Them Applies to the Charities Com-

Robertson, both in this city and in Virginia, to learn that one of his sons has applied to the Commissioners of Charities and Correction in his father's behalf. Col. Samuel B. Paul of 57 Broadway, who is counsel for Heber R. Robertson, Jr., who makes the application, sent this letter yesterday to Commissioner Porter:

I am directed by Mr. Heber R. Robertson, Jr., to ask the intervention of your Board, under sections 914, 915 of the code of civil proceedings, p. 2,279, par. 147-148, in behalf of his father, Heber R. Robertson. Heber R. Robertson is poor, old, decrepit, and unable to work to maintain himself. He was stricken with paralysis in December, 1862, and is now at the Columbus Hospital, 41 East Twelfth street. The expense of naintenance has been about $50 per month, which has fallen now entirely on Heber R Robertson, Jr., and has fallen now entirely on lieber R Robertson, Jr., and his means are so limited that he has been compelled to send his write to a distant state to stay with friends to enable him to maintain his father.

My client awars that both of his brothers have greater financial ability than himself, and both decline to aid in the premises. The younger brother, Watter P, Robertson, did for some time join in hearing a share of the burden, but, on the plea of increased domestic expenses, declines turther aid.

Henry M. Robortson, the oldest son, is in the paper business. He belongs to the Reform Club, the Southern Society, the Pemocratic Club, the Commonwealth, and the New York Athletic clubs, the Sons of the Revolution, and the Yale Alumni Association. Heber E. Robertson, Jr., who makes the application, is the Secretary of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Walter E. Robertson is in business with Henry. The family comes from Norfolk, Va. The father was formerly a merchant, and came to this city about six years ago. His sons had preceded him here.

Henry M. Robertson said yesterday:

"I had no idea that any such action was contemplated, and I was not consulted. I deny the statements made in Col. Paul's letter. I have been out of town for some time, and have now in my pocket an unopened letter from my brother Heber. My father will never become a charge on the community, and there was never any ground for this application."

Commissioner Porter referred the matter to Superintendent blake, who will to-day examine the three sons as to their means of supporting their father.

A MOTHER'S PITIFUL PLIGHT. She Goes to the Coroners' Office with Her

Bend Baby in Her Arms.

Mary Smith, a poorly-clad, delicate-looking woman, 30 years old, appeared yesterday morning at the Coroners' office in the Court House, in Brooklyn, carrying her dead 7months-old infant in her arms. Removing the scanty covering from the child's pinched face and skeleton form she told Clerk Deegan that she was too poor to pay for its burial, but begged that the little one should not be sent to the morgue. The child had been suffering from asthma for two months, and early yesterday morning she started from her home terday morning she started from her home at 15 Sycamore street with it to seek medical aid at the office of the Charities Commissioners in Elm place.

On reaching Elm place, she found the office still closed, and took a seat on the steep. When the clerks arrived and the woman was admitted to the hallway, it was found that the child had died during the mother's weary wait. It was by the direction of the Charities afficials that she went to the Coroners' office. Clerk Deegan had a little collin brought at once from the county undertaker's slope and the mother, with many sole and lamentations, witnessed its departure for the paupers' burying ground. witnessed its departire to: the paupers burying ground.

The woman's lot has been a pitiful one. About a year ago her busband, James Smith, was sent to the penitentiary for two and a half years for larceny, and she was left atone with two children to provide for, a boy 'il years oild and a girl of' 2 years. With the advent of the baby she had to give up work, and seek shelter with some friends almost as poor as herself. She was also obliged to part with the two older children, the boy going to St. John's Home and the girl to a relative in a distant part of the city. In splite of her misery the poor woman managed from time to time to send some delicacy to her imprisoned husband.
